Home, Stinky Home

By Melissa Lagonegro
Illustrated by Carlo Lo Raso

Random House  New York

Lilo and Stitch had to find a nice home
for Alien 254.
And keep him
away from Gantu!

The little alien was pink.

He was furry.

He had big eyes!

“You are so cute!”
said Lilo.

Even Myrtle and
the girls liked him!

“This little guy
is helping me make friends,” said Lilo.

But the alien had a secret.

He was a ticking
stink bomb!

“Oh, my!” said Pleakley.

Lilo still wanted
to keep him.

“I am naming
you Mr. Stenchy.”

“Arrgghh!” said Stitch.

He was mad.

Lilo took Mr. Stenchy
to a tea party.

Stitch came, too.

He made a big mess.

Bang! Crash!

“You should act
more like Mr. Stenchy,” said Lilo.

That made Stitch really mad.

Lilo had to go to the store.

“Stitch, you are in charge,”
she said.

“Roo, roo!”

said Mr. Stenchy.

He wanted to play.

But Stitch did not want to play!

Crash!

Gantu broke into the house.

He came to take
Mr. Stenchy away.

“He is mine!”

said Gantu.

Now Stitch was happy.

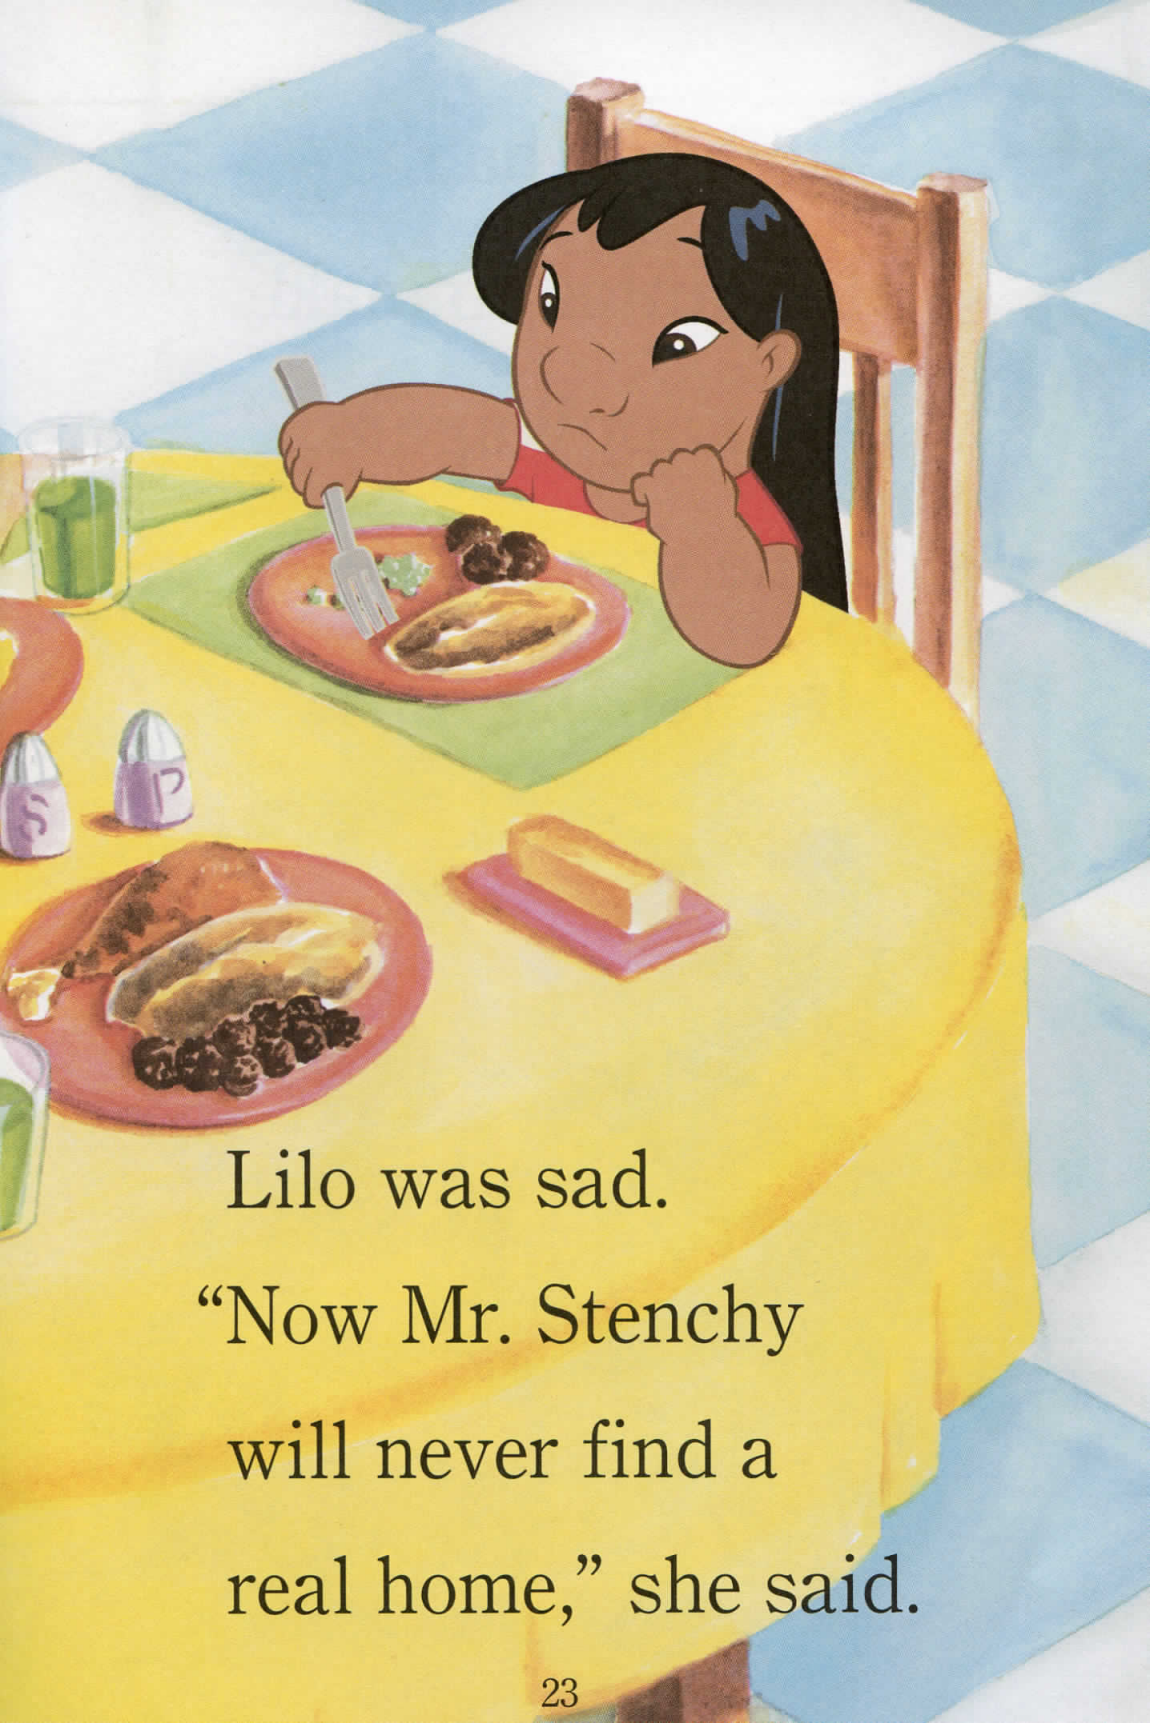

Lilo came home.

Oh, no!

Mr. Stenchy was gone.

Lilo was sad.

“Now Mr. Stenchy will never find a
real home,” she said.

Stitch felt bad.

He wanted to make
Lilo happy again.

So he went to get
Mr. Stenchy back.

“We have to help
Stitch!” said Lilo.

“Let’s go!”

The friends worked as a team to get
Mr. Stenchy back.

“Come to us,” said Lilo.

“Come to me,” said Gantu.

Suddenly . . .

... Mr. Stenchy
started to stink!

“Pee-yew!” said Lilo.

“Eeega!” said Stitch.

“Yuck!” said Gantu.

“Take him away!”

“Mmmm,” said Pleakley.

“This is a lovely smell
on my planet.”

Lilo had an idea.

“I know the perfect home for Mr. Stenchy,”
she said.

Pleakley's planet!
