www.brillkids.com

This book belongs to:

One day, the sky was full of huge, white
clouds

“We have no color,” sobbed the clouds, and
soon it started to rain.

They cried and cried,
and it rained and
rained.

The angels in heaven heard their cries and
asked them what
was wrong.

“our color is so pale!”

cried the clouds.

So the angels promised
them that whenever it
rained, the most colorful of things would appear in the sky.

Soon after, a colorful
rainbow appeared.
